Rex Lee Jim, Author

Nihikéyah and Saad Lá Tah Hózhóón

Rex Lee Jim is a contributing author to Nihikéh. His chapter titled, “The Footprints We Leave: Claiming Stewardship over Diné Bikéyah” describing the cultural knowledge gathered from the lands we walk upon. Jim is also the author of Saad Lá Tah Hózhóón which provides a collection of his work.

Rex Lee Jim is of the Diné (Navajo) tribe and was born and raised in Rock Point, Arizona on the Navajo Nation Reservation. He is of the Red House People (Kin Łichíi’nii) and born for the Red Streak Running into Water People (Táchii’nii). His Maternal grandfather is of the Towering House people (Kin Yaa’áanii) while his Paternal grandfather is of the Mexican people (Naakaii Dine’é). He is a former Vice president of the Navajo Nation, a poet, a playwright, and Medicine Man. He attended Rock Point Community School, the Newfound School in Asheville, North Carolina, and graduated from the Colorado Rocky Mountain School in Carbondale, Colorado. He attended Princeton University, Middlebury Bread Loaf School of English, and its Oxford University campus in England. He currently resides Rock Point, Arizona.

Facebook Live @dine.college
Zoom livestreaming
RSVP to Kayla Jackson at kcjackson@dinecollege.edu
Refreshments will be served